

February Newsletter

Recital season is in full swing! Classes are in the process of learning their recital choreography, when weather doesn't interfere! There will be no make-up classes available the rest of the season. Each class has its own choreography! Dancers Level III and older are expected to learn any missed choreography before returning to class, this enables us to progress weekly. If they have a friend in class that can record it, that is a great way to learn what was missed. Younger dancers will be caught up at their next class. Attendance is very important in making the most out of our class time. If a dancer is going to absence, please email us at nsod@outlook.com.

We will be inviting parents of all levels in the last 10 minutes of class the week of March 11th to record your dancer's choreography and see the progress we have made. This is the week prior to our Spring Break.

Costumes Our costume book is done and floating the waiting room. I know dancers have been anxious to see their costumes! Costumes will be arrive throughout March and April. Costumes come from several of different companies. They will be handed out as soon as they arrive. We will try on costumes during class. If the instructor feels there is a concern with the fit we will bring it to your attention. Please have your dancer try on their costume for you as well, if there are any concerns it must be returned to the studio within one week. Minor alterations are the dancer's responsibility (straps, hems, minor size alterations). There will be a studio seamstress available for hire if you need assistance. We will announce that date mid April.
